

Title

- Common belief cookies

Introduction

- In every religious festival, events and gifts are given. The gifts that are given are different that are the same. So I designed a combination of cookie boxes for the three religions. That choose to use cookies because it is a popular gift that everyone often chooses for each other.

Principles / Concept

- It is a gift that can be given to all religions. Because all religions have the same teaching, teaching everyone to be good.

Process / Methodology

- I was looking for information and pictures on the history of each religion. And combined to design a pattern of cookie boxes and cookie sachets.

Materials and Techniques

- Matt Coated Paper

References

- All religions teach everyone to be good. Therefore, we believe that all religions can give gifts together.
